Solution Offered To Berg Company Sewage Problem

Village Officials Disagree; Another Meeting Scheduled

LEETONIA—This village's Board of Public Affairs, Council's sewage committee and Mayor Paul Svehnich Monday night were presented a possible solution to the sewage problem confronting Leetonia and Bergs Bretzels, Inc.

Plans which call for improvements at the village's sewage treatment plant so it can accept starch water waste from the potato chip firm, were tendered city officials by B. F. Hatch, representative of Burgess & Niple Engineers of Columbus.

Ralph Kennedy, president of Bergs Bretzels, Inc., has employed this firm of sanitary engineers to work out a solution which will be acceptable to his company and to Leetonia.

Hatch gave his report at the regular meeting of the Board of Public Affairs in the village hall. He called the plans "the most logical solution and the most economical to all."

Neither accepted nor rejected by the board, these plans call for the construction of a "lagoon" adjacent to the present Leetonia sewage works, a pipeline to pump sludge into the "lagoon" and more efficient operation of the disposal plant.

The cost of constructing the lagoon and putting in the pipeline from the digester to the lagoon is to be borne entirely by Bergs Bretzels, Inc. The cost was not specified.

The engineer further told the city

Supreme Court Strikes Down Segregation In U. S. Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—A momentous Supreme Court edict, that segregation of Negro and white children in public schools is unconstitutional, confronted the South and Border states today with vast social and economic problems.

But an actual end to segregation still is months and perhaps years away.

There were those who said it would never come—that by one device or another the South would get around the Supreme Court decision. But others predicted a peaceful, if gradual, compliance.

The court declared unanimously yesterday that segregation "solely on the basis of race" violates the

Rash of Holdups Continues in Ohio

Dance Enthusiast Held For Milan Bank Job

By The Associated Press

Ohio's spring rash of stickups continued yesterday as:

1. A dance enthusiast was arrested on a bank robbery warrant filed at Milan.

2. A bank near Ashland was held up, and

3. A woman was robbed of $1,200 at Toledo.

FBI agents at Chicago arrested Samuel Y. Hochstetler, 33, formerly of Toledo, on a warrant filed after the Erie County United Bank of Milan was robbed March 9 of $31,000.

Guy Banister, FBI chief in Illinois, quoted Hochstetler as admitting the holdup and said the one-time truck driver had used $5,000 of the proceeds as a down payment for a "lifetime" dancing course at a Harrisburg, Pa., school.

Working On Charleston

He quoted Hochstetler as telling agents he mastered the fox trot, the waltz, the rumba, the mambo, the tango and swing. . . and was working on the Charleston.

Agents are still hunting another man who took part in that job.

The Polk State Bank, near Ashland, was held up by two men who tied cashier William Donley and escaped in a car with $2,100.

It was the third bank robbery in northeastern Ohio during the past 11 days.

Woman Cashier Robbed

The woman robbed at Toledo was Mrs. Margaret Selz, cashier of a wholesale grocery firm.

She told police she boarded a city bus carrying $1,200 in cash and endorsed checks for $80,000. The robber pointed a gun at the driver, Ambrose Krulski, announced "this is a holdup" and took the checks and funds from Mrs. Selz.

Other bank robberies were May 7—when two gunmen got $20,000

Constitution, regardless of whether schools for Negroes appear to be as good as those for whites.

The court said segregation of itself deprives Negro children of equal opportunities.

The justices tempered the impact of their ruling by holding off a formal decree to put the decision into effect. More arguments were ordered for next fall on how and when the decision should be carried out.

So, pressing down on the 17 Southern and Border states where segregation is compulsory are weighty problems of remodeling school systems, reorganizing school districts, readjusting and

Hearings Recess For Week, May Not Be Resumed Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—A cloud of uncertainty hung over the future of the McCarthy-Army hearings today. One thing was sure: President Eisenhower could dispel the cloud. But it seemed doubtful he would choose to do so.

Acting Chairman Mundt (R-S.D.) of the Senate Investigations subcommittee arranged an afternoon conference with Atty. Gen. Brownell to discuss the issues.

He was under instructions to seek some modification in a presidential order forbidding disclosure to the subcommittee of discussions strictly within the administration of the row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and high Pentagon officials.

The order was prompted by refusal of Army Counselor John G. Adams to give details of a Jan. 21 conference Adams said was attended by White House aides and other high officials. McCarthy said it appeared that the charges against him were "conceived and instigated" then.

Doubt They Will Resume

Several subcommittee members expressed doubt that the hearings, recessed until next Monday, will ever be resumed unless the Eisenhower order is altered.

McCarthy termed the order an "iron curtain" and "this cover-up." Asked by newsmen whether he would refuse to testify in the hearings if the directive stands, replied:

"I would not speculate on what happens in that event."

Mundt said the decision to recess the hearings, voted by the four subcommittee Republicans over the objections of the three Democrats, contains nothing which "even remotely implies a discontinuation of these hearings for good."

The subcommittee is seeking for the truth in an exchange of charges between McCarthy and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides. The Army side has accused McCarthy and two staff employees, Roy M. Cohn and Francis P. Carr, of using improper pressures to try to win favored treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine.

McCarthy and his two aides have countered that Stevens and Adams used Schine as a "hostage" in reassigning teachers, changing school bus routes and building more schools.

If some states or communities or school districts should balk at complying with the Supreme Court's ruling, more legal tangles would be in prospect. Associate Justice Jackson has predicted "a generation of litigation."

Senators Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Holland (D-Fla.) said it may be years before school segregation ends in the South.

The states most directly affected are Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas,

City To Purchase 12 'Intoximeters'

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer said today he has ordered 12 intoximeters, chemical test instruments for examining drivers suspected of being intoxicated.

The intoximeter, which determines the amount of alcohol in a person's system, is being used by the State Highway Patrol as well as many city police departments throughout Ohio, the mayor declared.

This instrument is admitted in court as evidence of intoxication and will enable police to get convictions, Mayor Cranmer added.

Breath of the suspect is blown into a balloon and reacts on a chemical which changes color, the mayor explained. The length of time required for the chemical to change color determines the degree of intoxication, he said.

Cost of the intoximeters will be $4.05 each, but each time a drinking driver is convicted on the charge the cost of the instrument will be added to the court costs of the case.

"Lisbon has had more conviction on drunken driving charges than ever before since that village began using intoximeters," Mayor Cranmer declared. "Sebring also has ordered some of the instruments," he added.

The mayor declared, "We must have the equipment to get convictions and keep drunken drivers off our streets."

Motion Adopted At Retailers' Meeting Today

Businessmen To Pay Assessment Over Period Of 10 Years

Salem's State St. merchants this morning agreed to help finance the city's share of the cost of rebuilding and widening E. State St. from Broadway to Lincoln Ave.

The motion was passed at a meeting of Retail Merchants in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Of 22 merchants attending, 18 voted in favor of the agreement and four did not vote.

Discussion at this morning's meeting did not center about the cost to the merchants, but rather on the two feet of sidewalk to be taken off in widening the street.

Nearly all the merchants at the meeting said they did not favor losing the two feet of sidewalk in front of their places of business, but most were willing to go along to get the project done.

State's Final Offer

In an opening statement to the merchants, Elliott Hansell, chairman of the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, said this is the state's final offer.

"In a telephone conversation yesterday with Dean Sever, division engineer for Division 11 of the State Highway Department," Hansell declared, "the engineer said the state had gone the limit and would not be a political football."

"The state considers this a very fair offer," Hansell continued, "and if we don't go along, they will withdraw their offer and drop the whole thing."

"The state would then put a cost of blackout on, and then plan on building by-passes around Salem," Hansell said he was informed.

Regarding the paving of State St., the city can assess the property owners $19,600 of the $20,000 it is required to pay as its share of the cost in repairing the street, Hansell explained.

"This cost would be $8.54 per front foot per year, based on a 10-year period over which the assessment can be spread. The cost of new lighting for State St., and Broadway will be $21.3 per front foot per year.

"The cost of moving the other utilities would be $0.44 for State St., property only. So the total cost on State St., would be only $11.11 per front foot per year, which is much less than was originally planned when the petition was circulated last summer," Hansell declared.

"Small Price To Pay"

"This is indeed a small price to pay for a modern, up to date main street which will serve us for many years to come," he added.

The state's proposal on State St., and one which has been approved by City Council in preliminary legislation, is to pave the street with concrete, reinforced with steel, and widen the street two feet on each side.

The cost of the project has been estimated to run between $80,000 and $100,000, exclusive of lighting and utility work. The state would pay a maximum of $80,000 and the

Berry Pickers' Pay Unchanged

Growers See Crop Prospects As Fair

COLUMBIANA—Berry growers of Columbiana and Mahoning counties, meeting in Columbiana village hall last evening, decided to pay pickers the same as last year, six cents a quart for strawberries and seven cents for raspberries.

The figures were set as a guide for growers, who may make the pay more or less depending on condition of the patch and the yield.

It was also decided to have a twilight meeting at Firestone Farms at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, June 10 to inspect test plots.

Leaving there at 7:30, the growers will visit the farm of Thomas Colella near New Waterford.

About 50 growers were present and listed with Columbiana County Extension Agent Floyd Lower, the probable number of pickers they would need, averaging around 40 to 50 a farm. Crop prospects are fair.

The Ohio State Employment Service was represented by Milton Sauer of Youngstown. J. E. Baker of Canfield, Arthur Johnson of Salem and Harry Dinsmore of East Liverpool. They expect there will be plenty of pickers.

Baker will be in charge of a branch of the employment service at McGuffey Center on the Sharon Line out of Youngstown where Negro pickers will be recruited.

In Columbiana County, Johnson has charge of the areas around Salem, Washingtonville, Leetonia, Lisbon, Columbiana and East Palestine and Dinsmore the southern part of the county.

Joseph Less, of RD Salem, chairman of the growers, presided. Raymond Knopp of near Greenford is secretary.

Salem Boy Injured When Hit By Car

Five-year-old Peter Charles Wukotich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wukotich of 895 Arch St., is in fair condition today at the Salem City Hospital after being struck by a car Monday night on Prospect St.

The boy sustained lacerations of the scalp and abrasions and contusions of the face.

Police reported the youngster, playing on the south side of Pershing St., west of Sharp Ave., darted into the street in front of a west-bound car driven by Gerald D. Yunk, 17, of 1056 E. Pershing St. at 7:08 p. m.

The boy was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

Jane E. Royle of 365 Jennings Ave. reported to police that as she was driving east on Franklin St. Monday a car pulled out in front of her from its parking place on the street, causing her to swerve her car into a utility pole to avert colliding with the other vehicle.

The other auto drove away after the mishap, she said.

TRUSTEES of Fairfield township have been assured by the Columbiana county commissioners that Southern Ave., extending west about a half mile from S. Main St. to Lower Elkton Road, will be improved to provide an alternate Route 164 for trucks with loads too high to get through the Pennsylvania Railroad underpass on Lisbon St. or for traffic when the road is made impassable by high water.

The commissioners are pondering the problem of the bridge over Mill creek about midway of the stretch of road to be improved, which is of inadequate width for modern traffic.

Either a new bridge will be required or the present one will be replaced by huge tile to take care of flood waters, for which the Pennsylvania Railroad bridges are sometimes inadequate.

Mrs. Margaret Barrow will preside this evening at the last meeting of directors for her second term as president of the Columbiana Business & Professional Women's club.

The meeting is scheduled for 6:30 in the dining room of the Christian Church, and will be followed by a meeting in Mrs. Barrow's music studio in the Smith Furniture Co. building, of club delegates who plan to attend the state convention in Cincinnati next Friday through Sunday.

'Bridgework' Gives Army New Bite

The Army has added a new "weapon" to aid its troops in action. It is a nine-ton aluminum bridge which can be dropped in battle areas by C-119 Flying Boxcars. Three planes recently airlifted parts of the bridge across the Ura River at Oita in southern Japan during training exercises conducted by the 315th Air Division and the Army's 187th Regimental Combat team. The same units cooperated in a bridge drop in December, 1950, at Hagaruri in the Chosen Reservoir area during some of the heaviest action of the Korean War.

A truck carrying part of the 474-foot aluminum bridge rolls up to a C-119 Flying Boxcar which will drop the bridge for a troop-training mission.

Sleeping Sickness Is Rare Brain Disease

A worried mother has recently written me, saying that her daughter has encephalitis, and asking for a discussion of the subject.

First, the word, encephalitis, kinds, but one means inflammation of the brain.

There are several kinds, but one of the best known in some times known as American sleeping sickness because many of its victims show a tendency to excessive sleep, sometimes for months or even years at a time.

The "sleeping type" of encephalitis was first described about 1917. It often appears in small epidemics. The most constant symptoms during the early stages are heading and disturbance of vision, such as blurring of sight or seeing double. Other nervous signs may also appear, but those mentioned are the most common.

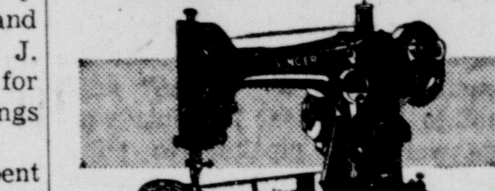

After passing through the acute stage, a chronic phase is recognized. This is a progressive condition and the outlook is not good. There is unfortunately no serum or drug which can be used with invariable success to combat this condition.

A somewhat similar situation exists with the other forms of brain inflammation although in some of them complete recovery can take place.

Horses also contract at least two forms of encephalitis and certain kinds of mosquitoes carry the virus infection from these animals to human beings. In the horse-spread type of the disease, the aim is to destroy all the mosquitoes which might become infected from the horses and to protect people living in the vicinity from bites by these insects.

All forms of encephalitis are

Stormy Democratic Session

State GOP, Democrats Again Pick Bliss, Hanhart Chairmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State chairmen of both Democratic and Republican parties were re-elected yesterday at meetings of party central and executive committees. They serve two-year terms.

Republicans unanimously re-elected Ray C. Bliss of Akron. He has been chairman since February, 1949.

For the Democrats, it was a stormy session. Eugene H. Hanhart of Dover was re-elected to a fourth term as chairman despite opposition led by Ray T. Miller of Cleveland, Cuyahoga County party chairman.

Seven Clevelanders and Mrs. Mildred L. Durbin of Kenton and Charles L. McDonald of Canton voted against Hanhart.

Reporters outside the closed meeting could hear Miller shout: "There has been no firm leadership" from the state chairman. He called for support of all party candidates.

"Every penny collected for the Democratic Party should be for every member on the tickets," he declared.

Congress Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Earl E. Mundt of the Senate subcommittee probing the McCarthy-Army row arranges a meeting with Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to discuss a presidential order limiting testimony at the inquiry.

President Eisenhower yesterday ordered Pentagon witnesses not to testify about any conversations strictly within the executive branch dealing with the dispute. The subcommittee then voted to recess public hearings until next Monday while it ponders the President's order.

Mundt is under instructions to explore with Brownell the possibility of modifying the order. Brownell backed up Eisenhower's action, which cited the constitutional provision for separation of powers between the executive and legislative branches.

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) contends the order prevents him from learning the "motive" for Army charges against him and his aides. Army Counselor John Adams has testified a top White House official advised him at a Jan. 21 conference to put in writing his relations with the McCarthy camp. Adams is, of course, under orders not to testify further about the conference.

HOUSING—The Senate Banking Committee begins writing a bill that would carry out the President's housing program. There are indications the group will concentrate on sealing any loopholes in the present bill which could contribute to irregularities.

FIREWORKS—The Senate debates a House-passed bill to put a partial ban on the interstate shipment of fireworks. The big issue is whether to delay until Sept. 1 the effective date of the ban. Some senators say fireworks firms might be bankrupted if the measure went into effect before the fourth of July. Others contend a delay would cost many lives.

Thieves A' most Stop Delivery Of U. S. Mail

ATHOL, Mass. (AP)—Thieves yesterday came close to doing what neither rain nor snow nor dark of night cannot. They almost stopped the U. S. mail.

The robbers who stole the four wheels off rural mailman William Peacock's car delayed the swift completion of his appointed rounds. But William Kelly, a neighbor, took over mail delivery for the day.

Ike To Speak At Freedom Day Fete

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — President Eisenhower flies here from Washington today to deliver an address as part of a giant Freedom Day celebration.

His brief afternoon speech follows a picnic luncheon with attendance expected to reach 50,000. The President plans to take off shortly afterwards aboard his plane Columbine for Washington.

The Celebration at Freedom Park is in honor of the 179th signing of the Mecklenburg County Declaration of Independence Thursday.

It was May 20, 1775, that Charlotetown (now Charlotte) citizens, most of them of Scotch-Irish descent, gathered to protest their complaints against Great Britain. As a result the declaration was drawn up and signed by leaders of the meeting. The minutes of the meeting supposedly were destroyed by fire in 1800.

Indochina Poet Fasting To Death For Peace

GENEVA (AP)—A 45-year-old Vietnamese poet, Vo Song Thiet, has begun the third week of his "death fast" for Indochina peace and police threaten to go beyond the law to force him to call it off.

Geneva Police Chief Charles Knecht conceded there was no lawful way to interfere since the fast was undertaken on private property. But he said he had a humanitarian duty to halt Vo.

The poet is living in a tent on private grounds near the Palace of Nations, scene of the Geneva Conference on Far Eastern problems.

Extend Trade Pact

A similar measure is pending in the U. S. Congress.

Jap Employees Strike for Right To Pet On Job

TOKYO (AP) — Employees of a Tokyo pinball parlor are striking for—among other things—the right to pet on the job.

Eleven men and three women complained also about working 13 hours daily for $9 a month, food and lodging.

But their loudest howl was the prohibition against petting. Two couples were fired for displays of affection.

The owner had ruled petting on the job "detrimental to peace and order in the shop."

For Indochina's Independence

Before the United States had given a dime's worth of help to French colonialism in Indochina, it should have demanded the complete independence of the three Indochinese states—Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam.

This country's assistance then would have been for the purpose of guaranteeing Indochina's independence of all further interference and despotism, including the interference and despotism of Communist China.

The United States made an error by seeming to defend colonialism.

If France is now in the process of forcing a showdown with the United States on a policy of aid for Indochina, absolute and irrevocable independence for the Indochinese should be the basic condition for any further assistance.

Unless the United States can establish the fact that it is not interested in defending colonialism in Asia, intervention in Asiatic affairs will be a waste of life and treasure.

There is only one occidental nation that Asiatics have any historic reason to trust—the United States.

It never has practiced imperialism in Asia. In the Philippines, where it came close to yielding to the temptation that beset all powerful countries easily in the 20th century, it converted a foray into imperialism into a demonstration of democratic good will and good faith.

In a very real sense, the empire builders now are reaping the whirlwind they sowed in Asia with centuries of ruthless exploitation. They have worn out the white man's welcome. The United States, however, never was tarred with the same stick.

It would be a gross blunder of propaganda warfare if Americans were to let themselves stand accused by hundreds of millions of Asiatics of helping the French, British, Dutch or any other empire-building nation hang on where local populations have made it plain they weren't wanted. The United States must stand for freedom everywhere, or it will be unable to defend freedom anywhere.

Natural Selection

If it is true that one of the newest wrinkles in the Kremlin's planned society is arbitrary selection of 10-year-old boys who will be trained as scientists, the United States can feel more than ever hopeful of its chances of outdistancing its Communist rival for world leadership.

Natural selection should turn out more scientifically-trained minds in the long run than any system of arbitrary selection. To say so, moreover, is not to deny that arbitrary selection of boys with high aptitudes for intensive training would be a potent method of supplying scientific intelligence.

But natural selection would be more potent in the long run because it would diminish the probability of error. The one boy who might be rejected by a bureaucratic agency as unfit for scientific training might contribute the best scientific thinking under a system which denied to bureaucrats the power of veto over human lives and careers.

In America, every boy who really wants an education can get all the education he wants. Some of the men and women who have contributed most in brain power would never have been able to qualify for the chance if they had been forced to pass a test when they were 10. It takes more than mere aptitude in brain power to be a civilized being.

Master Of Destruction

When North Korean Communists rolled over South Korea's inept defense in 1950, the decisive weapon was the Russian tank.

They were the same kind of tanks which had rolled back the Germans when the Russians broke out of the siege of their territory and invaded Germany at the close of World War II.

They were copied after the German tanks which had run over the French, the British and the Belgians at the outset of World War II, then had run over the Russians.

American tanks subsequently were to run over the Germans after the Normandy invasion in 1944. But as recently as 1950, when it was revealed in Korea that Russian tanks were the best equipment of their kind in existence, the United States never has been outstanding in tank warfare.

Yet, this is the key weapon in ground warfare—the decisive machine. Its potentialities were first demonstrated by Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian against Poland in 1939. In 1940, Guderian showed what they could do against the French and British. In 1941, his "panzer" divisions drove back the Russians.

Guderian's death has been reported from Germany. He was one of the authentic geniuses of mechanized warfare—a master in the art of committing the greatest possible destruction of life and property at the least possible cost to the destroyer.

Military Steps Blueprinted To Halt Reds

GENEVA

The United Nations may have to order the action permitting the United States and associated governments to take the military steps in Indochina that are necessary if Communist aggression in Southeast Asia is to be stopped immediately.

This procedure would be separate from what is contemplated in the Southeast Asia Security Treaty, which is designed for the long-range protection of the area and not for the current situation. The mere fact that this pact, too, is being planned now could buttress the United Nations' approach to the Indochina problem in the near future.

It will be recalled that President Truman felt that no congressional authorization was necessary to send American forces into Korea in June 1950—merely a notification to leaders of both parties in the Senate and House. The military operations that followed were held to be implicit in the treaty by which the United States had accepted the obligations of the United Nations Charter.

For a long time world opinion has been mobilized behind the thought that, if aggression occurs which threatens the territorial integrity of any country—that is, if there is a threat to peace anywhere—the members of the United Nations have a duty to collaborate in a collective action to remove the threat or to put down the aggression.

Certainly as of today there are aggressor armies in Laos and Cambodia, and these invaders come from Viet Nam in the form of a communist-led force known as the Vietminh.

FOR MANY MONTHS the question has been asked why, with such an obvious case for United Nations action, no use has been made of the U.N. machinery.

The truth is the French have been hesitant for fear it would raise more issues than it would settle. This reasoning has been based on the idea that the controversy would deal with independence and colonialism only and prove embarrassing in North African disputes and might not win favor among Asian nations.

Now the situation has changed and the issue is no longer whether the French have been granted in the case will cease to be colonies and become independent—for independence has been granted in the case of Cambodia and Laos and the final details for the independence of Viet Nam are in process of being consummated.

The real issue is what happens to any states newly born when they try to live in a world of aggressors. Also, Thailand, which is a member of the United Nations, has been threatened and has a right to ask U.N. action.

For many weeks now, as the Indochina question has been debated in Washington, the administration has made clear that it would not intervene alone in the Indochina crisis but would take military action only if the states or nations concerned wanted America to do so.

The fact is that the French forces, together with the native troops, are adequate for the fight against the Communist armies, but there is a dire need for air and sea power, both of which the United States has available for immediate use in the Indochina area.

ALREADY TALKS are going on among the major powers of the free world as to how best to use combined military forces in the Indochina war. This has been done for two reasons:

First, the Communist delegates at Geneva must understand that they cannot refuse to agree to an armistice on terms which take the aggressor armies out of Cambodia and Laos and be immune from collective action, and Second, if the Geneva Conference is going to fail, there must be planned now an alternative policy to prevent a continuance of the aggression against the Indochinese states.

The next few days will tell whether Moscow and Peking have any intention of agreeing to a sensible armistice setup and a form of international supervision that can be trusted by the free world or whether they will continue their unyielding position. Thus far the Soviets have made some minor gestures but nothing that the Americans and the British consider substantial.

As for the move into the United Nations, this would take only a few weeks. Fortunately, there is a permanent United Nations Commission to which the case can immediately be brought. After the commission completes its investigation of the facts, it can report to the Security Council, where a veto from the Soviet Union would be expected.

THIS WOULD LEAD immediately to an emergency meeting of the United Nations General Assembly, which could by majority vote call on all members of the United Nations to act together militarily to curb the aggression in Indochina. The fact that his procedure is available and has been discussed by the British, French and American delegations at Geneva in the last few days is known to the Communists and could have a salutary effect on their attitude toward the making of an immediate armistice.

If an armistice doesn't come now, the issue is certainly headed for the United Nations, with military action to be taken by a group of associated powers analogous to that which occurred in Korea. In fact, the military planning for such a contingency is underway now on a theoretical basis, as it inevitably must be or else the Communists would be expecting to take Indochina by default and there would be no need for further meetings at Geneva.

Whenever the possibility of military action comes into the picture, the prospect of peace brightens.

Youth's Religious Side

Youths from cities in many parts of the country are now preparing to attend annual camps and workshops frankly aimed at bringing people of varied faiths and national backgrounds closer together.

At the meetings, supervised by ministers, rabbis and lay leaders of both Christian and Jewish creeds, the conferees, in their teens and early 20's, will discuss the problems that arise from racial and religious differences.

Sponsors of the interfaith movement, which is marking its seventh year, are the Protestant Youth Council, the United Christian Youth Councils and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Conferences which run from late spring through the summer, have in past years been held in Boston, Buffalo, New York, Milwaukee, Los Angeles, St. Louis and Chicago and on Long Island, among other points.

The basic working rule of the program, according to a spokesman of the Anti-Defamation League which sponsored the first of the meetings, is that people who get to know each other will understand each other, and that the meetings promote such understanding.

While the adults exert general supervision, the young men and women themselves actually direct the discussions and draw up statements of their conclusions. Civil rights is a frequent topic, as are international problems, juvenile delinquency and discrimination in education.

Emphasis in past meetings has been placed on the need for frank discussions of personal as well as public aspects of these issues.

As part of the programs, the youths often attend both Protestant and Jewish services. At the workshop discussions they are instructed to: (1) Be honest with yourself; (2) Always deal with specific problems; and (3) Plan to do something about these problems.

The conferences are held on college campuses and at summer resorts. Recreation, with dances ranging from the Virginia Reel to the Israeli Hora, are part of the programs. In Buffalo, N.Y., the Youth Institute for Democratic Action, organized last year under the auspices of the Council of Churches of Buffalo and Erie County and the Anti-Defamation League has since held monthly meetings.

Recalling the original meetings, held on Buffalo's outskirts, the Rev. William Tempest, institute co-chairman said: "The most remarkable part of the weekend to me was the way in which 33 youngsters from different racial and religious backgrounds, rich and poor, were able in the space of less than 48 hours to be welded into a group of spontaneous acting persons who would discuss their prejudices freely."

In Los Angeles, similar meetings are held every two weeks with Lutheran, Episcopal, Disciples of Christ and community churches among the sponsors.

'The American Way'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

The Communist party of the United States has issued a new program which is entitled "The American Way." They are circulating this as a Draft Program inviting discussion and criticism. I read without a background, this document does not quite make sense, but related to the history of the party and the general attitude of the Kremlin, it is indicative of continued vitality and a new aggressive attitude.

The first point in the Draft Program calls for a renewal of United Front activities. The most successful United Front in the history of the Communist party was the League Against War and Fascism, (the League for Peace and Democracy, which, at one time, reached a membership of 4,000,000. It was the greatest achievement of the leadership of Earl Browder.

Many who joined it did not know that it was a Communist Front organization. Under the battering of congressional committees, many United Front organizations were destroyed.

This was supplemented by the attorney general's list, which became a determining factor in pin-pointing these organizations.

THE DRAFT PROGRAM calls for a renewal of United Front activities. It says:

"At a time of great national fear and anxiety the Communist party to reason, an appeal to the commonsense of our fellow Americans. The crisis of our nation cannot be resolved by any one group alone. Therefore, we offer this program for the consideration of the working class and all Americans who are concerned with the welfare of our country."

"We are convinced that only the widest unity of the American people can avert the disaster of economic ruin, fascism and war..."

In a word, the Communist party, in peril of being ostracized if not outlawed, is seeking to develop a United Front, headed by innocents and dupes, staffed by fellow-travelers and controlled by Communists.

The second point is that the Eisenhower administration is not representative of the American people. The Draft Program says: "There is an ever greater subordination of government to big business. The Eisenhower administration is an administration of, by and for big business. Corporate wealth—General Motors, U. S. Steel, Standard Oil and du Pont—America's biggest, richest and greediest trusts, run the U. S. government just as surely as they run their own corporations, and for the same end of ever more exorbitant profits."

THE THIRD POINT is the constant emphasis on the danger of war, which goes back to the pre-1939 program of the Communist party and was departed from only after the Stalin-Hitler alliance was broken:

"Powerful social forces are at work in the world that will not accept Wall Street dictation or domination. One third of mankind is emancipated from imperialist oppression and capitalist exploitation and has taken the path of socialism. The rise of the Soviet Union, its tremendous industrial and cultural advance, the victory of the Chinese people and the peoples of East Europe, prove that socialism is here to stay and is indestructible."

Therefore, as socialism is inevitable, why resist? This is an old argument, used very effectively by the Communists in the 1930's.

When the slogan was "The Yanks Are Not Coming," it was the same emphasis on the inevitability of the success of socialism and the ultimate failure of the United States.

The fourth point is the menace of McCarthyism, which is identified with Fascism, anti-Semitism and anti-Negroism. It says:

"McCarthyism is on a rampage. It is trying to brow-beat into submission every independent point of view, every thinking person. It burns books and destroys art and culture. It aims to smash the labor movement, to further enslave the Negro people, to stir up racism and anti-Semitism, to gag the young generation, and to wipe out all vestiges of liberty..."

THIS SAME argument was used against Charles Lindbergh, Herbert Hoover, Col. Robert R. McCormick and nearly every American who opposed the Communist party and the Stalin-Hitler pact.

Despite the fact that no such fascist movement has developed in this country, it nevertheless arouses the fears of large numbers of persons who are more frightened by Fascism than by Communism. There are many such persons in the United States who can never forget the existence of Hitler and the consequences that arose therefrom.

This Communist program will add a new divisive factor in American life.

Mister Screwball

By TRUMAN TWILL

Salvatore Dali means no more to me as an individual than a bunch of bees. But over a period of years I have developed a warm admiration for this joker as a symbolic figure of our era.

My admiration has warmed up another five degrees as the result of a photograph showing Salvatore with an out-of-balance mustache—six inches long on one side, four inches on the other.

This is a suitable sequel to Salvatore's stunt of imprisoning ants between the double lens of a pair of freak eyeglasses so he would have something to see. Her is the Mister Screwball of our age—everybody's choice for the Man Most Likely To Come Up With Something Goofy.

He has recognized what is so obviously true you would think everybody would take advantage of it—that there is a premium on harmless goofiness in a world being kept in a cold sweat by the lethal goofiness of killers and maimers.

Salvatore just keeps ambling along with an eye peeled for the next golden opportunity to tickle the oft-tangent sense of the ridiculous which exists just beneath the thin skin of millions of his contemporaries.

The nice thing about this fellow is that he knows he is spoofing and so do his contemporaries. He has turned his sense of the ridiculous into a means of livelihood. His now-famous Dali originals have acquired extrinsic value because they have an integrity bestowed on them by an artist who doesn't get cold feet when he sets out to rib the world. He goes the whole distance. His cockeyed way of seeing things is more rational than most of the things which are going on under the pretense of rationality.

But to get back to Salvatore's eccentric mustache, which is where this began, it is one of his masterpieces. Although it is not for sale, being attached to the designer, the mustache will add measurably to the long-term salability of Dali-ism, which is a marketable commodity.

It has helped to publicize Dali's name and his ways. Mister Screwball has advertised his trademark again with another astute campaign of free publicity. He has sought and been given a million dollars' worth of advertising because he has exploited the news value of a set of off-balance mustaches.

There is a subtle difference between a showman and a showoff. Salvatore Dali is a showman—a genius who knows how to go straight to the sensibilities of the public and accomplish a fixed purpose. A showoff is someone who merely attracts attention to gratify his vanity.

I once had an off-center mustache, myself. I was being a showoff; I was calling attention to the fact I was able to grow a mustache. The whole thing turned out to be futile so one day it was shaved off, and that was an end to the matter.

But not our boy Salvatore. That woolf-of-goosef adornment on his lip will be worth a couple hundred thousand dollars before he thinks of something else to keep himself internationally famous as Mister Screwball.

A real genius, my boy Sal.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Boredom Marches On

People continue to wonder just how "All's Video on the Potomac" impressed the general public and here is our guess of reactions to the telecasts:

Wife—Is this really a live show or a comedy with puppets? You mean the future of America is in the hands of men who go through all this hemming and hawing, windy speeches and all-around snarl-ups! If this is democracy keep it off video!

Junior—Aw, tune into something else! There's a lot of TV programs that are just as funny and have music and dancing.

Pop—I am happy to say I was in the office and couldn't watch the telecasts. From what I hear, however, it is my impression that I am wholly wrong in a lifetime assumption that to be a U. S. senator a man had to be over 11 years of age and have passed a grammar school aptitude test. The wife tells me there are a couple on this program who are so windy they should be compelled to carry air gauges.

Grandpa—I've been listening with both ear trumpets. I have been following the American scene for close to a century and I am now ure of one thing from what I've seen on the TV screen: the idea the country has progressed mentally since Bull Run is cockeyed.

Baby Lou (aged four)—I like the funny men on Howdy Doody better.

THOUGHTS ON THE POTOMAC

Biggest mystery about Secretary Stevens' virus: How did a "bug" manage to get into the case over all those objections, committee rules and speeches? Now we know how Rip Van Winkle was able to stretch out that Catskill visit from youth to old age: He had predecessors of Senators McClellan, Jackson and Symington along.

Comparisons between the Kefauver-Costello probe and this one: In the Costello case it was a matter of fingertips; in this one it is "all thumbs."

Administration considers Stevens' attitude supports McCarthy claim that Robert is stubborn, temperamental and inclined to pout in the pinches.

We think the public's verdict would be along this line: Both sides made bad errors; Secretary Stevens is a well-meaning man of high integrity but nobody is as lily-white as Bob insists he is; Joe McCarthy and Roy Cohn are not the team of Lord Chesterfield and Emily Post and never claimed to be; Mr. Stevens presented to the TV watcher too much of an impression of a man trying to register as a combination Sir Galahad, Lochinvar and Pentagon official, and there were moments, too, when he seemed playing Eliza fleeing across the ice and regarding McCarthy as a Simon Legree and the bloodhounds. . . . McCarthy admittedly looked at times on video like Legree as played by the old-time Uncle Tom show actors.

This writer hasn't missed a word of the testimony and can never understand the slugging of the move to shorten TV coverage by Messrs. Stevens and Welch. In view of the fact that it was the latter who two weeks ago, launched the idea by saying, "When Mr. Stevens steps down, if Sen. McCarthy will take the stand I am sure I shall need to examine only two or three other witnesses." . . . He repudiated it within a short time. And again last week he stood on his head (knowingly or not after everybody hoping for an end of the telecast had been led to believe he and his client would go along . . . (It's all done by mirrors!)

U. S. Views Development As Grave

Moscow Supplies Arms To Reds In Guatemala

WASHINGTON (AP) — American authorities said today they are convinced Moscow has turned loose Communist agitators to foment strife and chaos in volatile Central America.

This belief, U. S. Diplomats said, is based on recent developments in Costa Rica, Nicaragua and Honduras and climaxed now by an apparently large shipment of arms to Guatemala from Communist-controlled Stettin, once a German port but now incorporated into Red Poland.

The State Department announced late yesterday that an unspecified quantity and type of arms now are being unloaded from a cargo ship of Swedish registry at the Guatemalan port of Puerto Barrios.

The announcement said that: "Because of the origin of these arms, the point of their embarkation, their destination and the quantity of arms involved, the Department of State considers that this is a development of gravity."

For a number of years the United States has blocked all arms sales to Guatemala. It has repeatedly charged too that Guatemala is the center of Communist agitation in Central America and that its government is "playing the Communist game."

Looking back over unrest in Central America during the past six weeks, American authorities said they believe the signal for this activity came from Moscow late last year.

At that time, they recalled Guatemala's three top Communist leaders visited Moscow.

Since then, they said, these events have occurred:

On April 3, Nicaraguan exiles from Costa Rica unsuccessfully tried to assassinate anti-Communist Nicaraguan President Anastasio Somoza.

Somoza has ruled Nicaragua for about 20 years and his death, officials said, would cause a political vacuum and a prolonged political upheaval. He is also regarded as one of the most active anti-Communists in Central America and an arch-foe of Guatemala.

Subsequently a cache of arms was found along a lonely stretch of the Pacific coast of Nicaragua. Included were 2 submachineguns, 20 hand grenades, 4 automatic pistols and 40 rifles described as bearing hammer and sickle markings.

At the end of April, almost all of the banana workers, numbering over 20,000, in the northern sector of Honduras went out on a wildcat strike. Workers in shops, telephone exchanges and hospitals also struck, paralyzing the entire area. Guatemala lies just to the north of Honduras.

The Honduran government threw three newly arrived Guatemalan consuls out of the area and last week Secretary of State Dulles suggested they may have triggered the walkout. The strike has been well disciplined with little or no violence, but it has been endorsed by the Communist-dominated General Labor Confederation of Guatemala and the Communist-run World Federation of Trade Unions.

"We feel even more clearly," said one U. S. official who asked not to be named, "that there is a degree of activity in Central America that cannot be explained by sources within the area itself."

"Each of these incidents requires time, organization and money. Conceivably each might be explained by some local condition, but their timing and aim suggests central direction and purpose."

City Fights Gambling Cheats With Television

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — This gambling city is preparing to catch cheaters by electronics.

One plush casino, The Sands, inaugurated last night an elaborate television circuit by which Jake Freedman, president of the hotel corporation, can watch all 10 gaming tables at once from his office on the floor above.

The closed circuit consists of 10 cameras which show, on the screen of Freedman's receiver, only the hands of the players and dealers at the 10 tables. Any untoward activity can be reported by Freedman to pit bosses or other floor officials.

The cameras, a hotel spokesman said, do not identify the players but show only their hands and the exchange of money between dealers and players.

JUDGE BANS PHOTOGRAPH ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A Muskingum County Common Pleas Court judge yesterday refused to allow a photograph to be taken in his court of five new American citizens following a naturalization hearing. Judge Clarence J. Crossland said he based his refusal on judicial ethics of the American Bar Assn. which bans telecasts, broadcasts or photographs of court proceedings.

Costello Sentenced To 5 Years In Jail

NEW YORK (AP) — Racketeer Frank Costello was sentenced Monday to five years in prison for federal income tax evasion and fined $30,000.

He was sentenced by Federal Judge John F. X. McGohery shortly before noon after the government had described Costello as "the symbol of the successful racketeer."

Costello, who could have received up to 15 years imprisonment, also was assessed the cost of the trial.

Costello, 63, whose hoarse voice became familiar to millions during his televised testimony before the Senate's Crime Investigating Committee, has been in jail twice before: 10 months on a gun charge 39 years ago, and 14 months for contempt of the Senate committee in 1952-53.

A native Italian who came to the United States at the age of 4, his woes include a pending deportation action.

Last Thursday he was convicted on three counts of having evaded payment of $39,015 in federal income taxes from 1947 through 1949.

Conkle-McNeal Nuptials Held At Bunker Hill Church Sunday

Gowns in varying shades of pink were worn by attendants and the bride, Miss Barbara Ann Conkle, for her wedding to Kenneth Albert McNeal Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the Bunker Hill Methodist Church. The double ring service was performed before friends and relatives by Rev. E. K. Barss, church pastor.

A gold cross graced the altar and lighted tapers in candelabra, with vases of pink and white carnations and snapdragons, added to the setting.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Conkle of RD 1, Salem, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McNeal of RD 4, Salem, came to the altar after David McIntosh of Alliance sang "Because" and "Dedication." As the couple knelt at the close of the ceremony Mr. McIntosh sang "Wedding Prayer."

Mrs. Ruth Berry of Salem was accompanist for the soloist and heralded the bridal party with the traditional marches.

Blush pink was the shade of the waltz gown worn by the bride. Her net over satin ensemble was trimmed with lace and seed pearls. A short veil was held in place by a tiara. She carried her great great grandfather's Bible, purchased in 1843, and an orchid and lily-of-the-valley formed the flower motif.

Mrs. Evelyn Dow, sister of the bride, was matron of honor in a pink-orchid gown designed in waltz length of net and lace with short lace bolero. She carried a nosegay of violets, pink carnations and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Marilyn Weingart was a bridesmaid in deep pink; Mrs. Marylee Blasman wore a lighter shade of pink and Miss Peggy Conkle, was junior bridesmaid in pale pink. All the gowns were fashioned similar to that worn by Mrs. Dow, except Miss Conkle's, whose net gown was worn with a net stole. Each carried nosegays of violets and lily-of-the-valley.

Ellen Conkle, sister of the bride, was flower girl in a pink gown trimmed with pink satin and white embroidered nylon. She carried a basket filled with pink and white peonies.

Donald Baird was best man. Ushers were Carson McNeely and Willard Headland. All three are from the Salem area. Ringbearer, George Hobaggar of Youngstown, a cousin of the bridegroom, carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Conkle chose a blue sheer dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Mc-

Neal wore navy blue lace over pink with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

One hundred and seventy-five guests from Salem, Youngstown, Cleveland, Alliance, Warren, Beloit and North Jackson attended the reception in the church basement where pink and white streamers and white wedding bells added to the floral motif of crabapple blossoms and dogwood.

The four-tiered wedding cake served to guests was decorated in white with pink rosebud trim.

When the couple left on a week's honeymoon to New York City Mrs. McNeal wore a gray suit with pink accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. Upon their return they will make their home in Patmos.

Both Mr. and Mrs. McNeal were graduated from Goshen Union High School. Mrs. McNeal is employed at the Jones Insurance Agency in Salem. Her husband is an employee of the Purity Dairy at Westville.

The next regular meeting will be Monday, June 7, in the temple.

A lace cloth over gold carried out the party's color scheme of white and gold. Yellow daisies, roses and lily-of-the-valley were combined in the centerpiece made by Mrs. Fred Lyons of Poland, who with her brother, John L. Barnes, and sisters, Mrs. Carl Smith and Mrs. Harrison Kyle of Salem, arranged the party for their parents.

U. S. Steel, CIO Open Pay Talks

Union Position Hurt
By Slump In Industry

PITTSBURGH (AP) — U. S. Steel Corp., and the CIO United Steelworkers kick off the first major labor negotiations of 1954 today with the big union's bargaining power weakened by a six-month-old slump in the nation's steel industry.

The talks open the USW's new contract drive in the basic steel industry, employing some 600,000 steelworkers. Contracts expire June 30.

An estimated 190,000 steelworkers are idled by layoffs, an additional 257,000 are working only part time and steel mill operations hover around 70 per cent of national rated capacity.

This leads observers to believe the union will do everything possible to avoid a strike.

The negotiations are of national importance because:

1. U. S. Steel, the nation's top steel producer, generally sets the pattern followed by other basic producers in their talks with the union.

2. The steel industry is the backbone of the American economy. Steel prices do much to determine the all-over cost of living. It's possible that steel producers may pass any added contract costs on to the manufacturers of autos, refrigerators, stoves and the thousands of other articles made of steel, causing higher price tags.

3. The USW is one of the pace setters of American labor and other union leaders are sure to watch closely what the USW manages to win for its members.

Announced objectives of the USW this year are a guaranteed annual wage, a wage increase, improved hospitalization and pension plans and better terms on such contract items as overtime, vacations and holidays.

David J. McDonald, union president, hasn't disclosed how much of a pay increase the USW seeks for members now earning between $2.14 and $2.24 an hour.

Use of the adjustable length pendulum in the latter part of the 17th century made possible clocks of accuracy. Later, it was discovered that gravitational pull was not constant on the earth's surface and pendulum clocks were found to run slower at the earth's poles.

Food Concessionaires Get Sanitation Advice

"Flies and dust are a real menace to public health", Walter Tschabold, president of the County Board of Health declared Saturday, as he warned food concessionaires to control these two major nuisances at fairs.

"All food businesses at fairs will be required to have a food service operation license, to comply with the new Ohio food service law," Tschabold said.

He said, "Mobile food service operations that travel from fair to fair should seek a license in the city or county in which they begin the season's tour. Once a license is issued to an itinerant food handler, that license is honored in all health districts."

"However, each local health department," the Minerva, RD gas station operator said, "has the responsibility of inspecting operations entering its jurisdiction to see that standards are maintained."

"For protection of public health, there is no substitute for cleanliness of person and equipment," Tschabold added.

Early purchase of licenses by farm and church groups planting a foodstand at the county fair was recommended by the health official. "Even though the organization has a license for their hall or church kitchen, a fair operation involves a different structure; therefore, a separate license is required," Tschabold said.

THE GROWING TREND TO MODERN LIVING ON WHEELS

We're meeting so many owners of other fine cars

Almost every day it happens. In comes a man who drives another fine car.

The conversation usually starts something like this: "I've been seeing a lot of new Lincolns lately. Several of the boys at the country club have new ones. They seem practically wedded to 'em. Say they've never driven any car like it. I dropped in to find out the story."

Well, our first step is to take this man for a walk around the new Lincoln. We point out its fresh, clean lines—its careful use of chrome—its low, easy-to-see-over hood. We show the amazing trunk space.

Then we talk a bit about the Lincoln engine—how it's an even greater version of the one which twice beat all comers among stock cars in the Mexican Pan-American Road Race. We look under the hood. If he's technically minded, he understands what we mean by this V-205 engine being a high-output, low-friction V-8.

Then—it's time for a test drive. We hand over the keys.

Perhaps an hour later he comes back. He talks about handling ease, wonderful pick-up, quiet operation, and—"never had a ride like it before."

The rest is done quickly. We offer a top-price for his trade-in. And—there's another proud Lincoln owner. When may we meet you?

For the fourth straight year, Lincoln won first place in its field for economy in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run.

Don't miss the big television hit, "TOAST OF THE TOWN" with Ed Sullivan, Sunday evening 8:00 to 9:00: Station WEWS, Channel 5.

Umpire

Q. Where should the plate umpire station himself when a player is coming home on a close play?

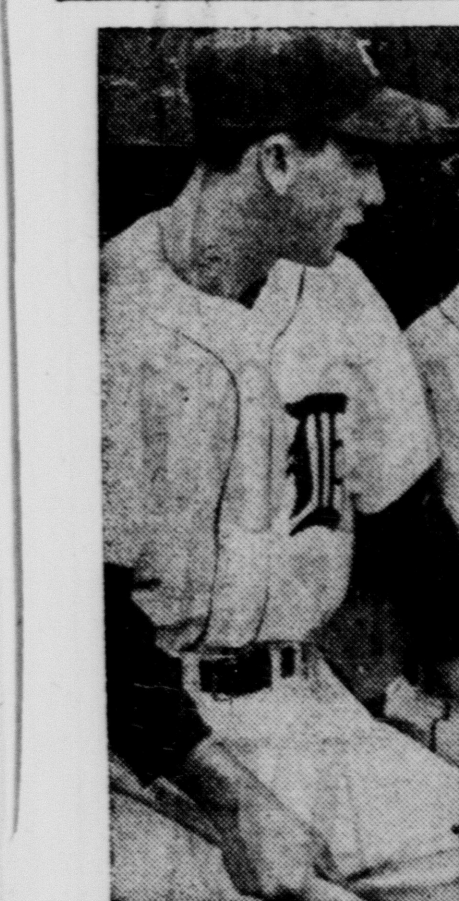

A. He should go up to the base line which will give him the clearest angle of view. Many umpires go up the third base line about 15 feet and then come back a step or two as the runner passes them.

Q. With a runner on first base and none out and a bunt situation coming up, who should cover second base?

A. The shortstop. The second baseman goes over to cover first and the first baseman comes in for the bunt.

The lesson for today is how to move from third to first place while averaging less than three runs a game over the last 10 games.

The instructor is Walter Alston, who used to teach school in the Midwest and who now is learning the facts of major league life as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Alston this season inherited the National League champions, who had inspired fear in the hearts of their opponents with their mighty slugging. The punch was so potent the league batting champ, Carl Furillo, hit seventh in the order.

By now Alston must be about convinced the Dodgers did it with mirrors.

He has his team in an exact first-place tie with Philadelphia but over the last 10 games the Dodgers have scored a total of 27 runs, with 10 of them coming in a single game. The opposition has scored 31 runs. The team batting average has skidded from .280 to .259. The home run production has totaled a mere three.

Of the 10 games, the Dodgers have won six and lost four. The victories have come almost entirely from excellent pitching, topped by Carl Erskine's two-hitter against St. Louis Saturday.

But the big factor which has allowed Brooklyn to improve its position has been the inability of the other clubs to take advantage of the Dodger slump.

Only the New York Giants, now half a game out of first, have made real progress. They've won seven and lost two. But the rest of the league has been beating each other often enough to allow Brooklyn to coast uphill.

Alston realizes this happy state can't last indefinitely and for this reason he's happy about the immediate schedule. The seventh-place Chicago Cubs come to Brooklyn tonight for a two-game series to be followed by the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates, who will be around for five games.

Even in such a slump the Dodgers should win at least five of these seven.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers benefited from last night's intra-league warfare when the Phils and Cardinals split a pair of decisions. Philadelphia whipped St. Louis 8-4 in a game completing the second half of Sunday's double-header which was suspended by Pennsylvania curfew. In the regularly scheduled game St. Louis won 8-0.

Boston edged Detroit 4-3 and Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 10-6. The other clubs weren't scheduled. The Phils owned a 6-3 lead when the Sunday game was suspended after six innings and the Cardinals couldn't catch up against Murry Dickson.

St. Louis unleashed its home run power in the full-length contest. Wally Moon, Rip Repulski and Ray Jablonski hit for the circuit against Robin Roberts, who had pitched a one-hitter the last time out, and Stan Musial added one against Karl Drews in relief.

Little Joe Presko scattered seven hits in registering the first shutout by a Cardinal pitcher this season.

At Detroit, Manager Freddie Hutchinson of the Tigers went against baseball custom and ordered pitcher Ned Garver to walk the potential tying run. The strategy backfired when Jackie Jensen lined into the left field seats for a three-run homer that won the game for Boston.

Hutchinson's reasoning seems more justified when you realize the man he ordered walked was Ted Williams, who got eight for nine in the Detroit double-header Sunday. Williams went hitless in two official trips yesterday.

Hank Sauer broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning with a grand-slam home run that set the Cubs on the winning trail at Pittsburgh.

Saddler, Bassett Drop Decisions

NEW YORK (AP)—Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler and Percy Bassett, the "interim" king, had better stick to the 126-pound class from now on.

The champ expected a romp against Hoacine Khalifi, a 3-1 underdog, last night at St. Nicholas Arena and lost a split decision to the fleet Algerian lightweight.

Bassett found himself in away over his head against Orlando Zulueta at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway and lost a unanimous verdict to the clever Cuban with the snapping left jab who is ranked second among lightweight contenders.

Khalifi used superior speed and a solid right hand punch to offset Saddler's left-hand punching and roughing tactics. Referee Teddy Martin had Khalifi a lopsided 8-2 winner but the other officials thought it was close. Judge Joe Eppy voted for Khalifi 6-4 and Judge Joe Agnello for Saddler 6-4. The AP card found for Khalifi 5-4-1.

Saddler weighed 132½ and Khalifi 135.

Zulueta, a 13-5 choice, won as he pleased over Bassett, avenging two previous defeats by the top-ranking feather contender. The Cuban weighed 135 to Bassett's 130 pounds. The votes for Zulueta were: Referee Pepe Scalzo 6-4, Judge Charley Shortell 6-3-1, Judge Americo Schiavone 8-2, AP 9-1.

Merchants Beat New Waterford

13-9 Game Locals' 3rd Win This Year

Scoring heavily in the late innings, the Salem Merchants won their third game of the season Sunday afternoon, blasting the New Waterford sluggers 13-9 on the losers' field. Salem has yet to lose.

After New Waterford had jumped out to a 4-0 bulge at the end of three innings, Clarence Lease's bases-loaded double sparked a four run rally in the top of the fourth to knot the count.

The locals then added a pair of tallies in the fifth to assume the lead, and iced the tilt with seven runs in the next three innings.

Lou Odorizzi, who entered the game in the third, was given credit for the win. Stumpo was the loser for New Waterford.

Lou Tish and Red Weingart each had a trio of hits to pace the Merchants, who tallied 17 singles. Waterford had 9, paced by Vocial's three.

Tomorrow, Salem will play at Kensington, East Palestine will be at East Liverpool, Lisbon will battle at New Waterford and New Springfield will move into New Galilee.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

There were two debates on monitored telephone calls in Washington these past days — one on television and the other, unnoticed, behind the closed doors of a CIO conference room.

That debate over using evidence gathered from wiretapping, which divided the CIO high command right down the middle last Monday, certainly deserves to be put on record, as much as the hollering on the Hill.

For several reasons. First, CIO president Walter Reuther characterized it rather enthusiastically as "one of the best fights we've ever had." Secondly, it revealed the problems which the government will encounter in its bid for a law which will permit the use of wiretapped evidence in federal courts.

It began when the erudite soft-spoken CIO counsel, Art Goldberg, introduced what must be presumed to be the CIO's and, therefore, Walter Reuther's position on wiretapping.

The resolution, in effect, said that the CIO found wiretapping distasteful but that if Congress should decide to permit the use of wiretapped evidence, then CIO would not fight it — IF. IF the wiretapping agency would first get the approval of a federal court. And IF this approval was limited to a special instance. And IF it was limited to suspected espionage and sabotage.

TRADITIONALLY, any such resolution introduced by the CIO counsel, with the apparent approval of the president, would pass with no more than a dissent or two made for the record.

Last Monday there were strenuous disagreements. Big Joe Curran, leader of the CIO seamen, and Joe Beirne, head of the communication workers, who cover the nation's telephone exchanges, objected. Curran, who has been a long minority in the CIO high council for some months now, asked who will determine — and how — what is sabotage in the meaning of such a law.

Suppose the National Maritime Union went out on strike and a load of armament was aboard the stalled ships, Curran said. Would this be considered sabotage? Could his union's wires be tapped and his plans and negotiations, weaknesses and strength be overheard?

Curran said the proposed resolution would put CIO in a hedging position and would approve a bill which opened a door to violation of basic safeguards.

Fighting alongside him was Joe Beirne, many of whose followers would have to participate in the technical work of these taps.

FOR SUPPORT of wiretapping in sabotage and espionage cases was a bloc including Jim Carey, secretary treasurer. This group said, in essence, "Hot or cold, we're in a war. If such a law can help capture spies or prevent sabotage or destruction of some plants, that's it. We're for it."

The vote was close. Sixteen to 15 — against what can be described as the official position as introduced by Art Goldberg after consultation with Reuther. For the first time in many years the CIO's big executive board had overruled its top national officers.

The CIO's official position, there-

CARNIVAL

"Maybe you wouldn't have to work to all hours, Mr. Abernathy, if you joined a union!"

fore, seems to be against wiretapping — period.

But the point is that support for the measure came from the highest CIO officers in a reversal of the traditional position of the unions, which have always resisted such tapping of conversations.

THE RECORD will show that the FBI, which has had as many (or as few, depending on your own feelings) as 170 taps going at one time, has not tapped legitimate labor organizations.

The FBI, however, is the only federal intelligence agency which does not have the power to tap a telephone on its own initiative. J. Edgar Hoover must first get approval of the attorney general, who then gets a court order.

If Atty. Gen. Brownell does get the new law he asked for last Monday, just about the hour CIO was debating the use of wiretap evidence, the government will undoubtedly cut in on the wires of the 10 pro-Communist unions which his proposed statute seeks to outlaw.

The CIO would then be in an awkward position if it were still bound to fight the uses of such evidence against the same sovietizers it expelled in 1949 for aiding the Comintern.

Front Porch Education

By HAL BOYLE

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Anybody who goes back and sits on the front porch of his boyhood will find he really hasn't learned much about life that he couldn't have found out if he had never strayed from that porch.

Any single city block in America, over a period of time, will reflect all the major joys and sadness, the defeats and victories, that a man will encounter if he travels the whole wide world to study the fabulous human race. I am sure this is equally true of a city block in Naples, Tokyo, Moscow, Berlin, Paris or Buenos Aires.

The other night I sat all alone under a bright moon on the steps of an old white house my father, now dead, bought 33 years ago. I looked up and down the silent street and wished God had made me a novelist.

For every darkened home along that 600 feet of asphalt cried out with stories of lives, twisted or firm, that would be remembered by many millions—if only Thomas Wolfe had lived in one of the houses, or Balzac, or Thomas Hardy, or Tolstoy.

It is only an average middle-class street—no different from ten thousand others—yet in only a single generation what power of passion, for good and bad, it has seen!

Every sin that Moses fought against had been committed, and many more, by the people who dwelt there—from wife theft to homicide, suicide, adultery, bribery, robbery and neglect of parents. Yet at any time in the last 33 years I have known this one block there were always—and still are—homes where Jesus Christ could come and feel that, after 2,000 years, he was not forgotten.

Just sitting there in the moonlight, looking up and down the street I could see:

The house where an old lady, bowed with the woes that come to a woman when her children go wrong, met death bravely and gracefully.

The house where husband and wife, locked in an indomitable marital duel, never spoke to one another. Through the years the wife, when dinner was ready, would say to the nearest of a half dozen kids, "tell your pa the food's on the table."

The house where lived the first bright friend of my youth, who coughed out his young life all alone on a farm before he probably even could spell tuberculosis.

Keegan Looks Improved Over Poor '53 Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Once lightly around the sports beat: Bob Keegan, the streaking Chicago White Sox right-hander who just wrapped up his fourth victory against a single defeat, had a reputation before this season of being one of the worst springtime pitchers in the business. His record last year was a very undazzling 7-5, and most of his wins came in a late-season spurt, long after the Sox were out of the American League race. Looks like Manager Paul Richards might have found that "difference" he was looking for by sticking with the Rochester product.

Gene Conley, the Leaning Tower of Milwaukee, made a great impression in blanking Brooklyn 2-0 in his first local appearance. The experts were dubious about his control in the spring, predicting that smart major leaguers would wait him out, but the 6-foot-8 rookie was cutting the corners against the Dodgers and coming in boldly with his fast ball when a walk threatened.

Q—How do Mound Birds hatch their eggs?
A—After laying their eggs in huge mounds, they mix leaves and other plant material in with the earth. This material gives off heat as it decays and this heat together with the heat of the sun hatches the eggs.

city would be required to pay $20,000.

Cost of the new mercury lighting system, proposed by the city to make E. State St., and Broadway Ave., a "white way," would be borne by the city, as would the cost of utility work.

City officials have requested financial assistance from the merchants to help pay their share of the project.

Final legislation on the paving project is expected to come before council at its meeting tonight.

James Aldom, speaking as a Chamber of Commerce member, urged persons in objection to the project to be at the Council meeting tonight. "The absence or presence of objection in the record will be a strong point if any future court cases should arise from the project," he said.

Hearing

seeking to get McCarthy to call off a hunt for subversives in the Army. They also named Asst. Secretary of Defense H. Struve Hensel.

The recess until Monday was voted yesterday, the 18th day of televised hearings, after Adams refused to testify whether responsibility for the accusations against McCarthy was shifted from Secretary Stevens and him to others' shoulders at the January meeting.

Adams previously had testified that Sherman Adams, top White House assistant to Eisenhower, had suggested then that he write down an account of the Schine incidents. A similar recital was the basis for the Army's formal charges, John Adams said others at the conference were Atty. Gen. Brownell, Deputy Atty. Gen. William Rogers, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Gerald Morgan, White House aide.

Decision Up To Ike
Whatever Brownell's recommendation, it was up to Eisenhower to decide whether he will rescind or alter yesterday's directive, which the President said was based on the constitutional provision for separation of powers between the executive and legislative branches.

McCarthy said he wants information not only about the January meeting, but about all subsequent sessions as well as telephone calls. And he said he wants the participants summoned for testimony.

There was every sign that the administration would balk at such demands, Eisenhower said yesterday. "This separation (of powers) is vital to preclude the exercise of arbitrary power by any branch of the government."

McCarthy said subcommittee members agreed with him in a closed session which preceded the recess vote that it would be "impossible to present my case if the order is not rescinded."

Claim His Case Hurt
He said that under the order he will have no way of proving "motives" for his claim that someone in the administration sought through the Schine charges to halt his search for Communists in the Army and to "expose those responsible for coddling these Communists."

Committee members said they want the hearings to continue.

But Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said it is his belief that unless the Eisenhower order is softened "it means these hearings are terminated," and he added: "That is a pretty grave responsibility for the administration to take."

Mundt said one of the main points is who was responsible for the charges against McCarthy.

"Until we can get some kind of answer from Mr. (John) Adams as to what occurred at that luncheon—if there was a shifting of responsibility—it may well be that the committee has been asking the wrong questions of the wrong people for a long time in these hearings," he told his colleagues.

from the Exchange Bank at Canal Fulton, near Canton—and May 10—when two men got $3,500 from the Farmers & Merchants Bank at Smithville in Wayne County.

FBI agents arrested two brothers—Harry T. Gerhart, 18, of Akron, and Donald E. Gerhart, 22, of Wooster—two days later and said they had admitted the Smithville job.

He has said if he were forced into the high costs of a pre-treatment plant it would be necessary for him to move his plant to another locality.

Village Council's sewage committee comprised of Frank Citino, Paul Casey and Joe Weikert, voted last night to go on record favoring the solution presented by Hatch.

Frank Guido, a member of the board, made the motion to accept the engineer's solution, but neither Vernon Walters nor Clarence Barnes, the remaining members of the board, seconded the move.

Reiterates Belief
Ralph Wagenhouser, superintendent of water and sewage in Leetonia, who in the past has always favored pre-treatment at the Berg plant, last night reiterated his belief.

"I think the solids content from Bergs will be too high for our treatment plant to handle even with dilution," he declared.

Part of the engineer's plan for the needed improvements provides for a one-to-one dilution of waste at the Berg plant before it is discharged into the sewer.

The board's and Wagenhouser's apparent reluctance to pass judgment on the suggested solution last night stemmed from the absence of the village's chemist, D. D. Helfinger.

Both Wagenhouser and the two board members said they wanted the chemist's feeling on the matter before they accepted or rejected the proposed plans.

In answer, Frank Citino called a meeting with the chemist at the regular Council session in village hall Wednesday night.

The Burgess & Niple engineer accompanied the board members, sewage committee and Mayor Sevenson on a trip to the village's disposal plant prior to the meet-

PRIESTS HONORED—Approximately 300 persons attended the reception at the American Legion hall Sunday evening when Rev. Fr. Edward Varble and Rev. Fr. John J. Cunningham were honored. Fr. Cunningham is the new assistant at St. Paul parish. Fr. Varble, former assistant here, was assigned assistant pastor at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Youngstown.

officials, "We will conduct operational tests throughout the summer season and, if at any time the waste from the pretzel firm disrupts the sewage plant's operation, Kennedy has agreed to cease discharging into the city sewers."

Easily Solved, Is Claim
This is a small problem and easily solved, Hatch declared. It should be to the advantage of all Leetonia.

The sewage conflict between the Berg plant and Leetonia started in 1947 when the village told Kennedy the plant could no longer discharge into city sewers because the insoluble starch disrupted the disposal plant's processes.

The plant discharged into Cherry Valley Creek then until 1950 when the Ohio Water Pollution Board ordered Kennedy to cease this practice.

After erecting a pre-treatment filter at his plant, Kennedy was again permitted to discharge into the sewers for a short time in 1950. He then was ordered again to cease discharging into the sewers.

At present the plant is dumping its waste into Cherry Valley Creek on a temporary permit granted by the pollution board on the condition Kennedy hire engineers to survey the problem for a possible solution.

Cost Prohibitive
Kennedy has told town officials the erection of a pre-treatment plant at his company and its operational expenses would put him in a position where he would be unable to compete in the potato chip field.

He has said if he were forced into the high costs of a pre-treatment plant it would be necessary for him to move his plant to another locality.

Village Council's sewage committee comprised of Frank Citino, Paul Casey and Joe Weikert, voted last night to go on record favoring the solution presented by Hatch.

Frank Guido, a member of the board, made the motion to accept the engineer's solution, but neither Vernon Walters nor Clarence Barnes, the remaining members of the board, seconded the move.

Reiterates Belief
Ralph Wagenhouser, superintendent of water and sewage in Leetonia, who in the past has always favored pre-treatment at the Berg plant, last night reiterated his belief.

"I think the solids content from Bergs will be too high for our treatment plant to handle even with dilution," he declared.

Part of the engineer's plan for the needed improvements provides for a one-to-one dilution of waste at the Berg plant before it is discharged into the sewer.

The board's and Wagenhouser's apparent reluctance to pass judgment on the suggested solution last night stemmed from the absence of the village's chemist, D. D. Helfinger.

Both Wagenhouser and the two board members said they wanted the chemist's feeling on the matter before they accepted or rejected the proposed plans.

In answer, Frank Citino called a meeting with the chemist at the regular Council session in village hall Wednesday night.

The Burgess & Niple engineer accompanied the board members, sewage committee and Mayor Sevenson on a trip to the village's disposal plant prior to the meeting in city hall. He explained the essentials of his proposed plan at the plant and again at the meeting.

He said, "The village now has a sewage treatment plant with a capacity which is more than required for the treatment of Leetonia's domestic sewage."

"We propose to use this excess capacity to treat the waste from Bergs Bretzels, Inc. at the Leetonia sewage works. To facilitate this treatment, we propose to dilute the pretzel firm's waste on a one-to-one basis."

"At the sewage plant the solids which settle in the primary plant will be pumped to the digester and from the digester to a lagoon to be constructed on city property. (The lagoon is a large dry lake where sludge is pumped to be dried). The lagoon will be of sufficient capacity to hold solids for two years."

"The solids will be pumped from the digester with the existing sludge pump of the city through a pipeline to the lagoon."

"Liquid waste will pass on through the sewage plant in the manner which it now does and receive complete treatment through existing facilities."

"Close checks and operational control through the coming summer season will be provided by the village and Bergs Bretzels, Inc. These will include tests on raw sewage, settled sewage and the final plant effluent."

"The lagoons into which the solid matter would be pumped would have to be cleaned only about once a year."

According to Hatch, suspended solids in the pretzel firm's waste are 2,400 parts per million and compare to about 300 parts per million of Leetonia's domestic sewage discharge.

Dilution at the pretzel plant would cut these suspended solids to 1,050 parts per million and the B.O.D. (Bacteria Oxygen Demand) content, which is now 750 parts per million, to about 375. Leetonia's B.O.D. content is now about 300 parts per million, according to Wagenhouser.

In addition to the construction improvements at the village's treatment plant, Hatch also suggested more efficient operation.

"The nozzles of the trickling filters are bent and should be replaced," he said. "The drains in the bottom of the filter bed are clogged up from water backing up in them from the creek into which the effluent is discharged," he added.

Hatch said the plant has not been working at the maximum capacity for which it was constructed.

Doctors Say Beaten Boy Not Sexually Attacked
CLEVELAND (AP)—Three physicians who examined 4-year-old Kenny Broyles have found no evidence he was sexually assaulted by the man who beat him up and left him near railroad tracks.

The boy, who was thrown from a railroad bridge or embankment onto the tracks was found Saturday. The child had been missing from his home about 12 hours.

It was first reported the attacker molested the boy sexually.

Segregation

the one big issue at this term of court. And when the decision came, reaction ran the range from mild to acid, within Congress and within the states involved.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, a former Supreme Court justice, said he was shocked by the decision but urged "all our people, white and colored, to exercise restraint and preserve order" until the final Supreme Court degree on mechanics. Then, he said, it will be up to the State Legislature to fix the course for South Carolina.

Northerners Hall Decision
Some Northerners hailed the decision as sound and a triumph for democracy.

In the South, there were some who urged caution, patience and moderation. Others took the ruling grudgingly or even bitterly.

Said Sen. Eastland (D-Miss): "The South will not abide by nor obey this legislative decision by a political court. . . . We will take whatever steps are necessary to retain segregation in education."

Rep. Winstead (D-Miss) called it a "tragic ruling" but not too surprising in view of "the caliber of men" on the court. Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said the court has become a "plant tool" of the executive branch of the government. (The Eisenhower administration, as did the Truman administration before it, had urged the court to outlaw segregation. The decision, Russell said, was a "flagrant abuse of judicial power.")

All the present court members except Chief Justice Warren were appointed in the Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman administrations.

Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia said the decision made the Constitution a scrap of paper, "blatantly ignored all law and precedent," usurped from Congress and the people the power to change the Constitution and from Congress the power to make laws, and raised "a grave question as to the future course of this nation."

Humphrey Praises Decision
But Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) lauded the decision as "another step in the forward march of democracy." Rep. Keating (R-NY) called it "sound."

Thurgood Marshall, New York Negro who was special counsel for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) in the segregation arguments before the Supreme Court, predicted the South will abide by the decision and "the people will get together for the first time and work this thing out."

South Carolina, Georgia and Mississippi already have made preliminary maneuvers toward abolishing their public school systems as they now exist, in anticipation of the Supreme Court's ruling.

There has been talk in the South of putting white children in schools run by churches, educational foundations or private individuals or organizations, with the states putting up the money for scholarships or for payments to parents who would pass it on to the schools.

Spent Large Sums On Schools
Some states have spent large sums in attempts to provide schools for Negroes on a par with those for whites, in hopes the Supreme Court would stand by the doctrine that separate but equal facilities are constitutional.

That, the court refused to do. The crux of its decision, in an opinion written and read by Chief Justice Warren for himself and the eight other justices, was this: "We come then to the question presented: Does segregation of children in public schools solely on the basis of race, even though the physical facilities and other 'tangible' factors may be equal, deprive the children of the minority group of equal educational opportunities? We believe that it does."

With particular reference to Negro children in grade and high schools, Warren said: "To separate them from others of similar age and qualifications solely because of their race generates a feeling of inferiority as to their status in the community that may affect their hearts and minds in a way unlikely ever to be undone."

A spokesman for the NAACP said the court's language clears the way for legal attacks on segregation in other tax-supported areas like hospitals, public beaches, state parks and housing projects.

Boy Shot In Arm, Side Is In Fair Condition
Richard Galbreath, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Galbreath of Beloit, is reported in fairly good condition today at the Central Clinic where he was brought Sunday after being shot in the arm by a pistol.

The Mahoning County sheriff's office said Dallas Rosier of Sebring, who was visiting at the Galbreath home, was showing a pistol to Gene Galbreath, 14, when the gun accidentally discharged. The bullet struck Richard in the arm and then entered his right side.
